A. READ THE TEXT AND CIRCLE THE CORRECT ANSWER TO THE QUESTIONS THAT FOLLOW (30pts)

The idea of recycling is certainly not a new one. Some of us have been recycling our aluminum, paper and glass for a long time now. But, there are more things that can be used again.

A few years ago, a new recycling trend took off in England and keeps attracting more and more people because it's so easy and fun: recycling books. This doesn't mean the paper that they are made of, but the actual book itself. This is how it works. A keen reader has more books than can fit on his or her bookshelves and there are a number that they are unlikely to ever read again. Of course, in this situation, we might pass a book or two onto friends, until their bookshelves get full too. What some online bookstores are doing is allowing people to buy a book, read it, then sell it to someone else. This way, you can sell the books you no longer want, as well as buy others that you have always wanted to read at low prices. These will also be second-hand, of course. All the books are cheap and cost the same and everyone is happy!

But the good news doesn't end there. Every time a book is sold, a small sum of money is given to an environmental charity that arranges for beaches to be cleaned and trees to be planted. Everyone benefits from ideas like this one: the buyer, the seller, the charity and, most importantly, the environment.
